Introduction

In the early Western Virginia settlement period of the mid-1700s, most of the area from the Blue Ridge to the Mississippi was Augusta County, Virginia. There were at least three early James Ewing settlers to Augusta County plus a Joshua Ewing settler, all with large families using similar names and living in close proximity within this area:

1. James Ewing of Monroe County (est ca 1722 – bef 1800)
lower Greenbrier River area – Indian and Turkey Creeks
2. James Ewing of Pocahontas County (1720 – 1801)
upper Greenbrier River – Ewing/Knapp Creek
3. Joshua Ewing of Pocahontas County (1734 – 1810)
upper Greenbrier River – Locust Bottom
4. Captain James Ewing (ca 1721 – 1796)
Staunton and Middlebrook areas

The purpose of this document is to identify the members of these four Ewing families whose overlapping records of the 1700s and early 1800s in the Augusta County area cause so much confusion. Source documentation is identified where available providing reference for further investigations. Only an overview of the Pocahontas James and Joshua Ewing families is included since these families are well known and have been well identified previously. The Monroe James Ewing family and the Staunton Capt. James Ewing family genealogies have both been more fully developed recently and are presented here with known reference material provided.

The early records of James Ewing in this area are quite ambiguous as to just which James is being referenced. Lyman Chalkley's Chronicles of the Scotch-Irish Settlement in Virginia, the definitive abstraction of Augusta County records to 1800, contains some 96 items referencing Ewing. Of these, about 78 can be reasonably well associated with one specific family of six different Ewing families, the remaining 18 still being ambiguous.<sup>1</sup> The six Ewing families of Chalkley are the four above plus the Henry Ewings family of Rockingham County and the Charles and Robert Ewing family of Bedford County.

In addition to confusion caused by there being numerous Ewing families, the Virginia counties and their boundaries were continually changing. In 1745, Augusta County encompassed almost all the land west of the Blue Ridge; down to the North Carolina/Tennessee line and west to the Mississippi River. The land that James of Monroe settled was first in Augusta County, then Botetourt County, and then Greenbrier County before becoming Monroe County. The early records are dispersed among these counties and other colonial and United States jurisdictions. James of Pocahontas records will be found in Augusta, Botetourt, Greenbrier, Bath, and Randolph Counties before Pocahontas County. Then, the continuing movement of these settlers between areas compounds the difficulty of tracing their records.

While two of these Augusta County settlers are associated with Pocahontas County, James and Joshua, that county did not exist until 1821, long after both were gone. Their records are mostly found in Botetourt and Greenbrier counties with some found in Bath County. With the partitioning of the Augusta County area into many new counties and their boundaries changing, records are found in dispersed places. The changing of counties and Ewing family movement is depicted in the sketch below indicating where their records might be found.

Evolution of Augusta County to New Counties in Areas of Ewings

1 The James Ewing Family of Indian and Turkey Creeks of Monroe County, West Virginia *

James Ewing was an early settler in what is now Monroe County, West Virginia. He is most probably of the Scots-Irish Ewing families of northern Ireland, but no evidence has been found proving this. He simply appeared, with full family, settling land on the Indian and Turkey Creeks in Monroe County in about 1770. That area was in Augusta County or became part of the newly established Botetourt County (1770), subsequently becoming Greenbrier County (1778), and then Monroe County (1799). The arrival of James Ewing to the Monroe County area was not noted since that area was sparsely populated and beyond most governmental cognizance. The marriage of his daughter Susanna to William Sproul in Augusta County in 1773 is recorded, so the family was in the vicinity by then. His first land record there (Greenbrier County at that time) was in 1787 “by virtue of a certificate in right of settlement,” meaning he established occupancy of the land sometime prior to 15 June 1782.

His wife’s name has not been found. But there were ten children of this James of Monroe family, all well documented in records mostly found in the Monroe County Court House in Union, West Virginia. These ten children of James Ewing of Monroe County were:

	born	died	married	notes
Oliver		1823		no heirs, Monroe Co
Susanna Sproull	~1755	1806	William Sproul , 1773	had heirs
James	1738	1807		had heirs, Augusta Co, Va

Sidney McNutt	~1761	bef 1818	Lt. James McNutt , 1781	had heirs, Ohio
Samuel		1815	Isabella McNutt , 1790	Monroe Co

John		bef 1818	Sarah Davis, 1787	had heirs
William “Turkey Bill”		Feb. 1818		no heirs, Monroe Co
Jean Patterson		1830	Matthew Patterson	no heirs

These ten siblings are specifically identified in the will of Oliver<sup>1</sup> (d. 1823). The will of William<sup>2</sup> and estate appraisals of Samuel<sup>4</sup> and Joseph<sup>5</sup> give further information. Primary source documentation exists for all the family listing above which is shown in bold, verifying most of the first generation and family structure. Subsequent listing may be color coded by sources to more readily identify source information. Each of these children and their families are addressed briefly in the following sections.

1.1.1 Oliver Ewing

	born	died	married	notes

The will of Oliver Ewing<sup>1</sup> provides the most complete record of the family of settler James Ewing of Monroe County. This 1818 will identifies the ten children of settler James Ewing of Monroe county plus four of their children and which ones were alive then and which had heirs. Oliver was one of the few of that family that remained in Monroe County, being recorded there in the 1810 census with himself and one female, both over 45, and again in the 1820 census, then with a male of 18 to 26 living with them. When he died in 1823, his will probated in Monroe County mentions all his siblings but no wife or direct heirs, so he is presumed to have had no descendents. But although he had no direct descendents, he did have at least four nephews named Oliver, two being Ewing and two being sons of his sisters, thus rendering records mentioning Oliver sometimes ambiguous. His appraisal lists his estate, valued at $1,155.12<sup>1a</sup>.

William Sproul was a Scots-Irishman from County Donegal who is first recorded in 1754 in the upper Cowpasture River area, not far from where Pocahontas James was located on the Jackson River at that time. Susanna Ewing married William in 1773, establishing the earliest known date by which the James Ewing family was documented in the area. Susanna and William lived at their Locust Grove farm, near Middlebrook, Va. The Sproul Family Bible<sup>9</sup> records the children of Susanna, beginning in 1775. The 1773 marriage of William Sproul was recorded from now-lost Augusta County records in Chalkley's Chronicles<sup>24</sup> although the name of the bride is not listed. A great deal is know about this family and each of its lines, all well-documented in Early Western Virginia Sproul Family<sup>27</sup>, by this author. This James Ewing is believed to have moved to the Middlebrook, Va area of Augusta County, living near his sister Susanna. There he lived to the age of 69 and was buried in the North Mountain Meeting House Cemetery in 1807. Because this "North Mountain" James family has been recently identified (previously confused with the Capt James of Staunton family) and not positively documented to be of the Monroe family, his records are addressed separately in Section 1.2, James Ewing of North Mountain Cemetery.

<sup>11</sup> – James Ewing Gravestone – North Mountain Cemetery - "In memory of James Ewing who departed this life April 14, 1807, aged 69 years. He was an affectionate husband, an indulgent parent, a good member of society."

1.1.4 Fanny Ewing

Joseph P. Charlton <sup>28,22</sup>	1822	1858	Lydia Keeney
Other Heirs <sup>1</sup>

Fanny Ewing must have married a Ewing cousin, thus keeping her Ewing name since her brother Oliver's will mentions "I give to Gean Charlton, Daughter of My Sister Fanny Ewing..." and her sister Janet Paterson's 1814 will mentions "to her sister's daughter Janet Ewing now Janet Charlton..." Fanny had other heirs since Oliver's 1818 will mentions "to the Heirs of my Sister Fanny Ewing...." in addition to the mention of her daughter Gean. While there is little known about Fanny, her daughter Jean 1807 married Joseph Charlton in 1807. Their family includes a 'James Ewing' Charlton and another 'Oliver' and has been documented in detail and referenced to source material by Mary Bess-Boswell in Descendants of Joseph Perry Charlton<sup>28</sup> as well as being briefly noted in Morton's History of Monroe County<sup>22</sup>.

The family of Sidney and Lt. James McNutt are most thoroughly documented and referenced in Lara Cooper's The McNutt Family of Monroe County, WV<sup>29</sup>. which is found online at www.mcnuttfamily.org. Married in 1781, they remained in Monroe County for about 25 years before migrating to Madison County, Ohio, along with others including Charles and John Ewing. Their children subsequently continued the migration, settling in Indiana, Illinois, and Iowa.

Early Ewings of Augusta

Samuel remained in Monroe County, and in 1790 married Isabella McNutt, sister of Lt. James McNutt who in 1781 had married to Samuel's sister Sidney. This family of Samuel and Isabella is also well-documented and referenced in Lara Cooper's The McNutt Family of Monroe County, WV. They had at least five children; Joseph, Sidney, and Oliver, mentioned in Oliver's 1818 will, and Robert and John, mentioned in an 1820 deed as "sons of Samuel, dec'd". At least three of these children migrated to Lewis County, Missouri. The children of Oliver and John have been identified through an old handwritten family tree<sup>21</sup> of uncertain origin, provided by Dr Wallace Ewing. This tree depicts four lines of the Monroe Ewing family that went to Lewis County, Mo. These are the lines of Oliver and John, sons of Samuel, and William and Samuel, sons of Joseph.

Most of the children of Joseph seem to have remained in Monroe County although William and Samuel migrated to Lewis County, Missouri, probably with their cousins of Samuel's line. The 1847 will of Oliver<sup>3</sup>, son of Joseph, reiterated the names of five of that family but adds little additional information. Census data indicates that the siblings Fanny and John lived together in Monroe County until they died about 1865. They were the last of the Ewing family found in Monroe County in the 1800s.

The familial relationship of the Missouri "Giantess" Ella Katherine Ewing is based on a handwritten family tree<sup>21</sup> of uncertain origin, provided by Dr Wallace Ewing. This tree, Appendix C of this document, depicts four lines of the Monroe Ewing family that went to Lewis County, Mo. Ella's grandfather was William Ewing, shown here as son of Joseph. It was believed by the Ewing historian, Nancy Hank Ewing, that Ella's grandfather was another William, son of Oliver. But there is strong evidence in Oliver's 1818 will that he had no children, since he named all nine of his siblings and many of his nephews and nieces, but made no mention of a wife or children of his own. The 1810 Census of Monroe County does list Oliver with a female of equal age (wife, presumably), but no other household members. Thus Ella's grandfather is shown in Joseph's line.

1.2 James Ewing of North Mountain Cemetery

Augusta County, Virginia, near Staunton/Middlebrook

While the James Ewing, son of the Monroe County James Ewing settler, is believed to be the James buried in the North Mountain Meeting House cemetery, the evidence of this is circumstantial and not altogether clear. Here is the information associated with North Mountain James. First, the gravesite:

James Ewing Gravestone – North Mountain Cemetery
James Ewing 1738-1807

The inscription on the gravestone reads:

*In memory of
James Ewing
who departed this life
April 14, 1807
aged 69 years
He was an affectionate husband,
an indulgent parent,
a good member of society.*

This gravestone identifies a James Ewing in the Middlebrook area who is probably the brother of Susanna Ewing who lived nearby and is of the Monroe Ewing family. The North Mountain Meeting House was one of the early Presbyterian meeting houses located about 5 miles SW of Staunton, Va. along Rt 252 and predecessor to today's Bethel Presbyterian Church. Susanna married William Sproul in 1773, whose first wife had recently died, and came to live near Middlebrook, some ten miles SW of Staunton, Va. James appears to have come to this area a few years later. There are no records suggesting that James remained in the Monroe County area, and his brother Oliver's will, written in 1818, mentions "the heirs of brother James Ewing", indicating both that he was dead and that he had heirs. This James is first mentioned in the Middlebrook area in William McPheeter's 1881 List of Tithables. That list also includes Capt. James Ewing of Staunton who had land and lived near Middlebrook.

While no deeds of this James Ewing seem to be recorded, the Augusta County Land Book from 1792 to 1816, for land tax purposes, lists two parcels of 146 and 150 acres for this James, identified because after 1807 the listing changed to James Ewing "heirs". This would not be confused with land of Capt. James as both he and his son James Jr died in the late 1790s and that land went to his son Joseph. In 1816, this listing was changed to the name of Jane Ewing. The Jane of the Capt. James family had died in 1794, so this may be presumed to be a daughter of North Mtn James. No will for this James has been found, but his estate appraisers met at his dwelling and noted "a mare sold by James Ewing jun", thus defining yet another James Ewing! This is fortuitous since having just discovered that the other three local James' were dead, one wondered how there could still be a James in the subsequent records.

Both Susanna (Sproul) and North Mountain James would have attended the North Mountain Meeting House. James was buried there indicating his association. It was the closest meeting house for Susanna and one of her children married the daughter of Archibald Scott, the minister there who also performed the marriage of James Jr to Mary Hunter in 1795. North Mountain was also the meeting house of the Capt James Ewing family, although they all were buried at the nearby Glebe Burying Grounds.

The fact that there were four James Ewings' living here within a few miles of each other in the Staunton/Middlebrook area creates confusion in the records until each died:

Capt. James Ewing	d. 1796
James Ewing Jr (son of Capt. James)	d. 1799
James Ewing (North Mtn James)	d. 1807
James Ewing Jr (son of N Mtn James)	d. after 1820

1.4 Land of Settler James Ewing of Monroe County

The Monroe County settled by James Ewing prior to 1782 was not formally recorded and granted to him by the Commonwealth of Virginia until 1787. At that time the land was part of Greenbrier County. This land is readily found at the junction of the Indian and Turkey creeks about 3 miles south of Union, county seat of Monroe County, along Rt 219 and a little above the old Indian Creek covered bridge.

1787	James Ewing, Sr. and Francis McNutt adj Wm Shanks and Alex. Prior land grants of others recognized his land as being adjacent:

1785	Alexander Clark: adj lands of James Ewing, 330 acres	Indian Creek	Greenbrier
1785	Francis McNutt: adj land of Samuel Ewing, 250 acres	Indian Creek	Greenbrier

There were numerous land transactions by the family, recorded in Greenbrier and then Monroe counties.

1.5 Additional Records of James Ewing of Monroe County

There are hundreds of records of the Monroe James Ewing family in the libraries and court houses of Augusta, Botetourt, Greenbrier, and Monroe counties. Most of these await investigation, correlation, and analysis. While Chalkley's Chronicles seem to note items relating to Monroe James in 1779, there is a great deal of ambiguity in many of the references to "James Ewing." Many of the Augusta County records refer to Capt James and North Mountain James. Greenbrier records may refer to either Pocahontas or Monroe James. And the strays such as those from the Frederick County William Ewing family occasionally further confuse the records. Greenbrier County surveys in the now Monroe County area note James and Samuel as early as 1780.

Appendix B contains a listing of several hundred references thought to pertain to the Monroe James Ewing family for further investigations. Also the records of Botetourt County from 1770 to 1778 and Greenbrier County from 1778 to 1799 still contain a wealth of undiscovered information on this family.

2 The James Ewing Family of Pocahontas County, West Virginia

James Ewing, born in 1721 and early settler of Pocahontas County, was the fifth child of John Ewing of Carnashannagh, Ireland and his second wife Janett McElvaney. His brother John had a son Joshua who also settled nearby on land originally assigned to his uncle James and is the subject of Chapter 3. The background of the John of Carnashannagh family is well documented in Evelyn Jones Ewing's Ewings of Shenandoah Valley Virginia<sup>1</sup> and more detail of this family is presented in Margaret Ewing Fife's Ewing in Early America<sup>2</sup>.

James Ewing was an early pioneer to the Jackson River and Greenbrier River areas of what is now western Virginia and West Virginia. His earliest recorded date is for a land survey, 254 acres on the Jackson River at Muddy Run in 1746, so he must have been there by then, but probably not long before as that area was just being surveyed and opened following the 30,000 acre grant to Andrew and Thomas Lewis in 1743. He later moved about 19 miles further westward to settle and establish the name Ewing Creek (now known as Knapps Creek). He is noted in a 1751 survey there with a call "over the top of Ewing's house". This is in the area near today's town of Marlinton in Pocahontas County, West Virginia.

In 1770 James turned over his claim to Moses Moore for a steel trap and £2. This is the last known transaction involving James Ewing. His inventory was filed in 1801 in Bath County so he lived to 80 years of age. His inventory included only a horse, gun, saddle, and some clothes and blankets. His children were by then long grown and off on their own.

James had ten children, born from 1741 to 1772. These children and their children are listed in the following table, which should be helpful in identifying persons associated with various records. Included are a few more James Ewings' to compound our confusion. Note also that there are brothers John and William. These brothers appear to have had local contact with similarly named John and William Ewing brothers both of the Frederick County and Monroe County Ewing families.

One daughter, Ann, married Archibald Clendenin who was killed in a 1763 raid by Indians of Chief Cornstalk's Shawnee tribe. Ann, two of her children, and her brother John were taken captive. Ann escaped but one of her children was killed as the Indians attempted to lure her back. John and his niece Jane were taken to an Ohio area where they remained with the Indians for nearly two years before being released to return. John was known as "Indian John" thereafter. Most of the family moved to Gallia Co, Ohio in 1810.

A great deal has been written about this family in Nancy Hank Ewing's James Ewing – Pioneer<sup>3</sup>. Wally Ewing presents some interesting family history in his The Ewings: One American Family<sup>4</sup>. There is a continuing debate as to whether or not this James Ewing married a second wife, Sarah Edwards, and raised another five children, as shown herein.

3 Joshua Ewing of Locust Creek at Greenbrier River

Joshua Ewing is the grandson of John Ewing of Carnashannagh, Ireland and son of John Ewing. Thus, Joshua is a nephew of James Ewing of Pocahontas County of Chapter 2, and came to live near the Greenbrier River on land originally assigned to his uncle James. The background of the John of Carnashannagh family is also well documented in Evelyn Jones Ewing's Ewings of Shenandoah Valley Virginia<sup>1</sup> and a great deal of detail of this Joshua Ewing family is presented in Margaret Ewing Fife's Ewing in Early America<sup>2</sup>. Around 1729, John Ewing of Carnashannagh, at age 81, came to America with his large family and settled in Chester County, Pennsylvania. Several of his children, including William Ewing, ancestor of the Stephens City Ewings, moved onward by the Great Philadelphia Wagon Road to the better land opportunities of the Shenandoah Valley. After John Ewing, father of Joshua, was killed by a male servant in 1736 in Chester County, his brother William Ewing and brother-in-law David Jenkins were named guardians and trustees of Joshua and his brother Thomas until they were twenty-one.

The earliest record we find for Joshua Ewing in the Augusta county area is in the 1763 estate sale of Nap Gregory, one of the earliest settlers to what is now Pocahontas County. The first land record of Joshua is a 1774 survey of 270 acres on the north side of the Greenbrier, at Little Levels near Locust Creek. In 1775, Joshua is noted in the list of tithables of the Little Levels area of Botetourt County along with William and John Ewing. These may have been sons of Pocahontas James Ewing since Joshua was located on Locust Creek, about 12 miles below Slago Creek where William and John Ewing held land. But other cousins, William and John Ewing, sons of William of Stephens City were also in the area. At this point there were actually three sets of Ewing brothers in this area named William and John: the sons of Pocahontas James, Frederick William, and Monroe James. Joshua appears to have been reasonably prosperous. The Greenbrier Historical Society Journal notes that Joshua held 500 acres of land in 1783 and the Greenbrier County Tax List of that year shows him as having 9 horses and 17 cows.

Joshua Ewing was buried in the Ewing Cemetery, an acre of land which he gave as a public burying ground, located about ¼ mile from the Greenbrier River about a mile above the mouth of Locust Creek in an area that became the Rhea place. Said to be buried there are Catherine Rhea, W. E. Ewing, Robert

Rhea, and J. E. Ewing (Joshua). {Although the cemetery was overgrown in 2007 to the point that I could not locate the Ewing stones, the Rhea stones were visible; wws}

4 Capt. James Ewing Family of Staunton, Virginia

The origins of this James Ewing have not been established and there are probably no surviving lines. However, from the DAR records of the Glebe Burying Grounds gravestones<sup>2</sup> and the will of Capt James<sup>3</sup>, the names and dates of this family are known.

All members of the Capt James Ewing family are buried in the Glebe Burying Grounds with the site and stones well-preserved today, although located in a somewhat remote woods near Middlebrook, Virginia. It is sad to note that almost all of this family died in the 1790s, two passing within days of each other in 1794 and seven altogether over a short five year period. By 1800 the survivors consisted only of Martha, wife of Capt James, a daughter Martha, and a son Joseph. Martha, the daughter, was unmarried. She used the name Ewin, both in her will and on her gravestone. Joseph is believed to have been married, but no survivors have been found. With the passing of Joseph at the age of 60 and Martha at 91, this Ewing line seems to come to an end. However, Martha did mention one unknown Ewing in her 1855 will: “to the heirs of Rob Ewin,” so perhaps there was some survivor of this line.

This James Ewing family mostly used the same given names as found in both the nearby and often confused Monroe and Pocahontas James Ewing families. Capt James’ signature appears on documents with the Monroe James and his daughter Martha’s will mentions many of the Monroe James family descendants who lived nearby. Still, there is no established family relationship.

The closest indication of a Ewing relationship found would be that these Ewings lived in close proximity to Susanna Ewing Sproul, daughter of James Ewing of Monroe County. The land that Capt James purchased in 1772 appears to be adjacent to the farm of William Sproul and Susanna Ewing Sproul, Martha lived in nearby Middlebrook, and James Jr owned lot #8 in Middlebrook. Archibald Alexander Sproul and his brother William Scott Sproul, grandchildren of Susanna, bought 94 acres of Martha's land also adjacent the Sproul farm in 1855 after she died. Of great significance is that Martha Ewing, a wealthy woman, in her 1855 will left the predominance of her wealth to various members of the Sproul family. This may indicate a familial relationship with the Monroe Ewing family or, perhaps also, that there were just no remaining survivors of the Capt James line.

In James Ewing – Pioneer<sup>5</sup>, Nancy Hanks Ewing gives a brief sketch of this family:

Captain James Ewing, merchant of Staunton, was married to Martha Wilson, daughter of Colonel John and Martha Wilson, also of Staunton. The colonel was for 27 years a representative in the Virginia House of Burgesses in Williamsburg. Both he and his wife, Martha who died in 1755 are buried in the Glebe Burying Grounds, as are Captain James Ewing and his wife Martha and most of their children, several of whom died young.

Captain James' will is dated Feb 3, 1795 and proved Oct 18, 1796. His wife Martha is mentioned, also two sons, James and Joseph, two daughters, Martha and Nancy, and several slaves.

This is basically the information from the family gravestones at the Glebe Burying Grounds. There are ten Ewings buried at the Glebe Burying Ground, all apparently of the immediate family of James and Martha Ewing. All ten are either mentioned in the 1796 will of James Ewing or were already dead at the time of his death. There were four family members already buried here at the time of James' death.

Glebe Burying Grounds Records

Records of the Glebe Burying Grounds and its Capt James Ewing family gravestones come from two sources:

The Chalkley record, while published earlier, is less complete and does not identify its source. The DAR record is more complete but contains a birth date conflict as well as conflicts with the Chalkley record.

Corrections for Family Dates

There are definitive inaccuracies here, some caused by the difficulty in deciphering inscriptions such as noted in the DAR booklet. Another source of inaccuracies would be that many of the Ewing gravestones and inscriptions were not installed until after 1855. Martha's will, probated in 1855 provided, "I direct that there shall be a decent head and foot stone placed at the grave of each of the family with a suitable inscription on each." That provision of Martha's will, executed more than 76 years after the first Ewing graves, may account for errors in the inscriptions such as the birth dates of the siblings James and Joseph being 6 months apart.

Additionally, there was another son, also named James Jr, who lived locally and died about 1799<sup>6</sup>. He was unmarried<sup>5</sup> and most certainly should have been buried here with all his family. This James Jr would have had to be born by 1777 to have been of age 18 to be named an executor of his father James' estate in 1795<sup>7</sup>. It seems most probable that the James Jr. gravestone which the DAR recorded actually refers to this James Jr and the record of his date of death should be 1799 rather the inscribed 1779<sup>8</sup>.

That leaves the problem of there being six month between sibling births of James Jr and Joseph. One of the birth dates must be wrong but there is no evidence as to which, so that conflict remains unresolved. The Chalkley record definitely has the Jane dates incorrectly attributed to James<sup>7</sup>. The foregoing rationale thus accepts the DAR record with the changed 1799 death date for James Jr and recognizes the conflict between the birth dates for James Jr and Joseph.

The executor's statement by Mathew Wilson which is recorded after the will refers to preceding will of Capt James Ewing

Four children were alive at the time of Capt James' death. Nancy and James Jr died a few years later, leaving Joseph, and Martha. Joseph lived with his mother and died in 1835. Martha died in 1855.

James Ewing of North Mountain Meeting House Cemetery

Captain James and his family lived near Middlebrook, VA and were all buried at the Glebe Burying Grounds, all nearby the home of Susanna Ewing Sproul, daughter of James Ewing of Monroe County. Recently found at the nearby North Mountain Meeting House Cemetery is the grave of Susanna's brother James, another James who died ten years after Captain James. This James also had a son James Jr, so there were some four persons named James Ewing in that area of Augusta County at one time. This explains some of the conflicts and ambiguities such as where apparently duplicate records were actually referencing different persons. Having established that Captain James and his son James Jr died before 1800, subsequent references in that Augusta/Middlebrook area are generally to the North Mountain James family descendents of the Monroe County James. A timeline chart follows depicting the time-frame on these two James Ewing families.

Timeline of Capt James Ewing and North Mountain James Families

Reference Notes – Capt James Ewing

While there are numerous persons named James Ewing in the Augusta County area, the numerous documented citations noted below are believed to be associated with the Capt James Ewing family. Lyman Chalkley's *Chronicles of the Scotch-Irish Settlement in Virginia has some 97 citations regarding Ewings which relate to at least six different Ewing families. About 36 of these that seem to be associated with Capt James Ewing of Staunton. {Chalkley's Chronicles may be found at www.rootsweb.ancestry.com/~chalkley/}

Will of Martha Ewing, signed Nov 23 1849, proved 27 Aug 1855

Augusta Co Court House – Will Book 34, p.518

Martha Ewing died in 1855 at the age of 91, the last survivor of the family of Capt. James and Martha. Her will shows she was fairly wealthy, but reveals little in Ewing family relationships. Her strongest connections seem to be with the Middlebrook Sproul family, who are the children and grandchildren of Susanna Ewing of the Monroe James Ewing family. While no actual family relationship has ever been found between the Staunton and Monroe Ewing families, Martha lived in close proximity to the Sproul family and Martha's own family relatives appear to have all died twenty years before her death. The 36 items of her will are listed below, grouped by family relationships that have been identified.
